Fifth, That while we think we can see a slight improvement manifested upon the part of the teachers in the Institute work, yet the growing sentiment in its favor is not as marked as we hope to see it in the future.

Seventh, That we recognize in our Superintendent, Mr. Andrew Driskell, the proper qualifications for his official duties and we hereby pledge ourselves to support and sustain him in all worthy efforts extended in the interest of our common schools and the advancement of education.

STOPPED THE TRAIN.

Sheriff of Hancock County in Trouble Cited to Appear Before Judge Barr.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 11.—Judge Helm, attorney for the L. St. L. and T. railroad, filed a petition this morning asking that Sheriff G. C. Baker, of Hancock county, be brought into court and be made to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt. It is alleged that the sheriff seized one of the cars of the railroad while the train was passing through Hawesville yesterday, and attempted to hold it to secure a judgment rendered against the railroad in the Hancock circuit court. The conductor in charge of the train refused to recognize the sheriff's authority, and the latter then tried to make the railroad man a special bailiff to take care of the car. As the railroad is in the hands of a receiver, appointed by the federal court, the application for contempt proceedings was filed there. Judge Barr ruled that Sheriff Baker should answer in this city October 1.—Owensboro Inquirer.

COINING SILVER.

Mr. Carlisle Has the Mints Running on the Seigniorage. He is Coming Back to his Old Love.

Nearly Three Quarters of a Million Coined During Last Month.

DONE UNDER EXISTING LAWS.

WASHINGTON, Sept.—Secretary Carlisle's heart seems to be warming again toward his old love—silver. Mr. Carlisle is now demonstrating that he is decidedly more favorable to silver than he was a few months ago. I was at the treasury department to-day and learned officially that he is now rapidly coining the silver bullion purchased under the Sherman law. The seigniorage he is covering in to the treasury. But here is a full statement, which explains what the secretary of the treasury is doing. It is from a high official of the treasury department and may be considered official:

"The mints at New Orleans, Philadelphia and San Francisco are engaged in coining standard silver dollars from the bullion purchased under the act of July 24, 1890, commonly known as the Sherman law. During the month of July $430,000 was coined and during the month of August $729,000. About the same amount will be coined during the present month, September, and thereafter such amount will be coined as the secretary may consider advisable under all the circumstances. The third section of the act of July 14, 1890, provided that the secretary of the treasury should coin each month into standard silver dollars 2,000,000 ounces of the silver bullion purchased under the provisions of that act until July 1, 1891, and thereafter he should coin of the silver bullion purchased under the provisions of the act as much as might be necessary to provide for the redemption of the treasury notes issued in payment for the bullion, and that any gain or seigniorage arising from such coinage should be accounted for and paid into the treasury. The coinage now going on is done under the authority conferred by this section of the law and the seigniorage derived from it is paid into the public treasury as required by law and used for the ordinary purposes of the government; but the remainder of the coins are held in the treasury in order to provide for the redemption of the treasury notes issued in payment for the bullion. During the last eleven months 3,970,727 standard silver dollars coined from the bullion purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, have been paid out in the redemption of treasury notes and the notes so redeemed have been retired and canceled. The process is still going on daily. Prior to Mr. Carlisle's connection with the department no silver had been paid out for the redemption of such notes and none of such notes had been retired and canceled."

The above would indicate that Mr. Carlisle is more favorable to the white metal than the general acts of the administration would indicate. Though Mr. Cleveland vetoed the bill to coin the seigniorage it will be observed from the above that Mr. Carlisle holds he has the authority to coin it and turn it into the treasury, and he is doing it. I have it officially that he will go right ahead coining silver bullion until every ounce purchased under the Sherman law has been coined. All over and above an amount sufficient to redeem outstanding coin certificates, dollar for dollar, will be covered into the assets of the treasury and used for the regular expenses of the government. In other words, the seigniorage will be the government's gain, as was contemplated in the seigniorage bill which Congress passed and Mr. Cleveland vetoed.
